Press Release

SimCorp Dimension integrates LexiFi's technology

SimCorp and French software provider LexiFi have entered into an agreement to integrate LexiFi's financial instrument modelling technology into SimCorp Dimension. The LexiFi technology will allow SimCorp to more rapidly deliver complete and flexible solutions for complex financial instruments to its customers.

"We are very pleased with the cooperation," says Jørgen Vuust Jensen at SimCorp. "The LexiFi software fits perfectly with SimCorp Dimension and allows us to keep up with the innovation of new financial instruments. The resulting functionality is released with SimCorp Dimension version 4.3."

LexiFi is equally happy with the agreement. "The cooperation will allow us in a much better way to market our advanced solutions and put them into practice in an enterprise solution such as SimCorp Dimension", says Philippe Lecocq at LexiFi. "We look forward to our further collaboration".

In addition, the agreement introduces cooperation between the two companies to develop further unique functionality to the benefit of all their clients in the financial industry.
